“ Betty Judd

“ September 2, 1986 was my first day of third grade. Upperclassmen had told us third graders to fear Mrs. Judd. I was a boy who was labeled a "trouble maker" by teachers that I had prior. Mrs. Judd seen how I was being provoked by other students and seen that I was not only sticking up for myself, but other students who were being picked on. Mrs. Judd stuck up for me, defended my actions, and told me daily how proud she was of me! I seen with my own eyes a woman who was passionate about her career as a teacher not just with the academics, but with how you treat others with respect and push yourself to achieve the goals that you think are not within reach. She would go out of her way not to make a student who was struggling stay in from recess, but ask that student if they wanted her help. As I became an adult and started my family, I often told my children about Mrs. Judd. When I took my children trick or treating Mrs. Judd remembered who I was after all those years and invited my family into her home. My children always enjoyed her home during Christmas. My fondest memory of her was how proud she was of my class when we won the relays for her. She was the first teacher who believed in me and recognized qualities that I didn't know I had. Davis County Schools need more Teachers like the remarkable Mrs. Betty Judd. My condolences to her entire family.
