“ Hey Randy and Roger. I'm isolating here in Arkansas, but Travis texted me of your father's death. I'm so sorry. I have fond and funny memories of working for your parents during winters right after I graduated from college. I helped with chores. That made me appreciate the work involved with raising livestock. That probably scarred me for life. The old neighborhood I knew when I was young is all gone now. I'm the new old fossil on south prairie. Your Dad was a good man.

“ My sister-in-law was Phil's sister. We only crossed paths occasionally over the years, but he was always a fun person to be around. Our deepest sympathy to all of his family.
